Bioventus Launches Online Center for Orthobiologic Learning, Bioventus Academy

DURHAM, NC – September 8, 2015 – Bioventus, a global leader in orthobiologics, today announced the launch of Bioventus Academy its online medical education platform which provides health care professionals (HCPs) with access to in-depth clinical and scientific information on bone healing and early osteoarthritis (OA) treatment options. Bioventus Academy offers personalized web-based courses, comprised of interactive, educational content and live national and regional webinars featuring thought leaders in orthopaedics, podiatry and orthobiologic science.

“At Bioventus, we understand the challenges HCPs face in keeping abreast of the ever-changing science and clinical outcomes in orthobiologics,” said Tony Bihl, CEO, Bioventus. “Because HCPs are faced with information overload, we created the Bioventus Academy providing 24/7, personalized learning to support them in their pursuit of knowledge, with best-in-class scientific and clinical content, focused on bone healing, growth factors and OA.”

Bioventus Academy also features a video library and access to medical scientific liaisons to answer questions. There is no cost to the HCP and future enhancements will include course transcript and testing functionality along with expanded content in fracture management and bone healing. You can experience it all at www.bioventusacademy.com.
